

“Creating Emotional Impact with Wildlife Photography”

A Presentation by Michelle Valberg

Moderated by North Shore Photographic Society

Friday November 19, 2021 at 7pm (Pacific) *

In this presentation, Michelle will showcase how she creates empathy and emotion with her wildlife imagery and dive into the technical aspects of photographing wild creatures in the field.

For over 30 years Michelle Valberg has focused her camera on wildlife and landscapes with the intention of transforming simple beauty into a deeper reflection of humanity. Her thoughtful portrayals of the natural world aim to draw viewers toward the idea that we all need to be better stewards of our natural world. By developing a deeper awareness of the connection between people, animals, and the environment, Michelle believes that we can be inspired to take action in our local communities and beyond.

Michelle is a Nikon Ambassador Canada and the first Canadian Geographic Photographer-in-Residence. She is a fellow of the Royal Canadian Geographic Society and the prestigious Explorer's Club in New York City. Michelle has self-published 4 books, her photographs hang in embassies around the world and she has been published in numerous international magazines. She was recently awarded the Julia Margaret Cameron Award for Women Photographers and top prize in the Big Animal International Photography Competition in the Terrestrial Category. "The natural world mirrors what we see in ourselves ... our beauty, our simplicity, our complications, and our responsibilities. Nature is a part of us and reflects who we are. As a visual storyteller, it is my mission to educate, inspire, and immerse my viewers in the beauty and wonder of planet earth." Michelle Valberg
